

#33 May Day Millennium – Why Immigrants Day occurred on May 1, 2006: The May Day (51) Day of Rest in the 6-1 Year of the Seventh Millennium

The more that is learned about the meaning of the unfolding of past world history in the fulfillment of prophecy, the more that can be understood about present events, for all events are ordained by the Lord to fulfill prophecy.

With what has been learned so far, one recent present event that can be understood is what we can appropriately call Immigrants Day, May 1, 2006. Normally, May 1 is reserved for the Labor Day theme, and while immigrants' rights and workers' rights were partially combined in the events of the day, the main focus was on the issue of U.S. immigrants themselves.

Key Understanding: *Immigrants Day occurred on 5-1 in the 6-1 year of the seventh millennium. The Lord ordained the build-up of events to Immigrants Day, May 1, 2006, with its massive public gatherings, because the immigrants themselves represent the pointing to America as the Promised Land of the peoples of the world, and because of the prophetic theme of the May Day of Rest. In addition to occurring on the date of May 1, it occurred exactly in the 6-1 – meaning Seventh – Year of the Seventh Millennium, to show that mankind's May Day of Rest through America is counterfeiting the Lord's Millennial Sabbath Day of Rest.*
