

#503 The Rise of Michael the Archangel – Archangel in the Russian Civil War, part 2, The ‘Michael the Archangel’ White Americans in the Polar Bear Expedition vs. the Red Bolsheviks

Michael the Archangel’s Americans and British. The American military intervention at Archangel, Russia, near the end of World War I, and even after the November 11, 1918, armistice, is commonly nicknamed the Polar Bear Expedition. It is also known as the Northern Russian Expedition, or the American Expeditionary Force North Russia (AEFNR). A contingent of about 5,000 U.S. troops landed in Archangel, Russia, ostensibly to prevent a German advance and to help reopen the Russian front. Instead, they ended up fighting the Red Bolsheviks on the side of the White Army in the surrounding region during the period from September 1918 through July 1919. Fighting during the winter of 1918-1919 was concentrated in six areas scattered across Archangel Province in a semi-circle south of the city. When navigation was possible in June 1919, the American forces left Archangel and northern Russia. British troops withdrew a few months later. The anti-Bolshevik government they left behind held the city of Archangel until February 1920.

the Tree of Knowledge of Good and Evil that the Americans and British, as a part of the White Army, were righteously fighting on the side of the Lord and Michael the Archangel, against Satan and his Red Bolsheviks.

The Lord ordained the unusual historical event of the American and British forces landing in and fighting from and for the city of Michael the Archangel to prevent the birth of Lenin's Soviet Union. This all occurred for the purpose of revealing and fulfilling a part of the prophecy surrounding Daniel 12:1, which in turn is tied to the events of Daniel 12:8-10 at the "time of the end" of the Soviet Union.

Daniel 12:1 (NIV) AT THAT TIME MICHAEL [the Archangel], the great prince who protects your people, WILL ARISE. There will be a time of distress such as has not happened from the beginning of nations until then. But at that time your people—everyone whose name is found written in the book—will be delivered.
