

#884 Benjamin Franklin and America as Babel – Benjamin Franklin on June 28, 1787, at the Constitutional Convention: “And if a sparrow cannot fall to the ground without His notice, is it probable that an empire can rise without His aid?”

The Lord ordained Benjamin Franklin – who as the mind which had wisdom played key roles in the birthing of the Beast, the Eighth – to be born in 1706 [= 1709] to specifically fulfill Revelation 17:09 as the ironic counterfeit of “the mind which hath wisdom.”

Revelation 17:09 (KJV) And here is THE MIND WHICH HATH WISDOM. The seven heads are seven mountains, on which the woman sitteth.

Franklin and the birthing of the Beast through the 1787 Constitutional Convention. In the performance of his various essential roles in birthing the Beast, the Eighth Kingdom, it was serving as a key member in the drafting of the U.S. Constitution at the 1787 Constitutional Convention that the Lord ordained Benjamin Franklin to specifically and especially fulfill Revelation 17:09 as the ironic counterfeit of “the mind which hath wisdom.”

Benjamin Franklin’s famous words on June 28, 1787, at the U.S. Constitutional Convention.

Christians quote many of the Founding Fathers of America as proof that America was founded as a Christian nation. One of the most famous sources is Benjamin Franklin’s speech on June 28, 1787, at the U.S. Constitutional Convention. [The U.S. Constitution was finally agreed upon and signed on September 17, 1787.] On June 28, 1787, when it looked as though the convention was not going to be able to reach a consensus to form a new government, Franklin rose to his feet and gave his famous speech. As a part of it he said, “And if a sparrow cannot fall to the ground without His notice, is it probable that an empire can rise without His aid?” He then called on the Convention to begin each day with prayer, imploring assistance from Heaven for guidance.

Key Understanding: The empire rising with His aid. On the surface, it seems as though Benjamin Franklin was a wise Christian, asking the Lord for help in creating the constitution of the United States of America – “. . . is it probable that an empire can rise without His aid?” But, instead, Franklin was the American mind which had human wisdom, creating the constitution of the Beast, the Eighth Kingdom, America, fulfilling as an ironic counterfeit the words “the mind which hath wisdom” in Revelation 17:09. Let’s also note that the Lord ordained that Benjamin Franklin’s words, “. . . is it probable that an empire can rise without His aid?”, exactly describe the Revelation 17:08 Beast rising out of William Pitt’s England.

(above) Another depiction of Benjamin Franklin (with a cane) at the Constitutional Convention in 1787. He was the counterfeit of “the mind which hath wisdom” in Revelation 17:09, helping to birth the beast instead (below).

Here is #884–Doc 1, a website which details what occurred on June 28, 1787. This doc is a good representation of the normal pro-Christian view toward Franklin’s famous speech of that day.

Click here for #884–Doc 1

Click here for the Original Source of #884–Doc 1

<< Previous

Main Page and List of Unsealing Summaries

Next >>