Key Understanding: There were the Revolutionary War, the Civil War, and the Spanish-American War phases of the United States waxing great toward the south.

The Revolutionary War phase of the U.S. waxing great toward the south

Recent Unsealings have addressed the fulfillment of the U.S. waxing great toward the south through (i) American independence from England serving as a model for Latin American independence from Spain in the 1810's and 1820's, and (ii) through the Monroe Doctrine. This was the Revolutionary War phase of the U.S. waxing great toward the south.

[Note: As concerns the four presidents of Mount Rushmore, George Washington and Thomas Jefferson represent the Revolutionary War phase of the U.S. waxing great toward the south.]

The Civil War phase of the U.S. waxing great toward the south

Soon came the Civil War phase of the U.S. waxing great toward the south, fulfilled through the spirit of the anti-slavery laws of the 1787 Northwest Ordinance waxing great toward the south with the freeing of the slaves through the American Civil War. Reference Unsealing [#1719.]

[Note: As concerns the four figures of Mount Rushmore, Abraham Lincoln represents the Civil War phase of the U.S. waxing great toward the south.]

The Spanish-American War phase of the U.S. waxing great toward the south

The Spanish-American War phase of the U.S. waxing great toward the south encompassed the growth and influence of America outside the continental United States. This has been discussed in abbreviated fashion and will be reviewed in the next Unsealing.

[Note: As concerns the four presidents of Mount Rushmore, Theodore Roosevelt represents the Spanish-American War phase of the U.S. waxing great toward the south.]
