

#2246 The Yom Kippur War and the Abomination of Desolation – The post-World War II U.S. waxing great toward the South and toward the East as a second Syria/Antiochus IV Epiphanes, part 505, The Pale Horse, (cii), The movie Pale Rider: Eastwood’s 44th acting endeavor was released 68 years after the U.S. entry into World War I

Key Understanding #1: 68 years after the U.S. entry into World War I came the Pale Rider. The Lord ordained the movie Pale Rider to be released in 1985, 68 years after the entry of the United States into World War I in 1917, for the purpose of confirming that the United States was fully stepping into its prophetic role as the primary Pale Horse Rider of Revelation 6:7-8.

The plot of Pale Rider. A cadre of men employed by powerful strip-miner Coy LaHood (Richard Dysart) rides into a small mining encampment and begins shooting up the place. One of the terrorists kills young Megan Wheeler’s (Sydney Penny) dog. As Megan buries her pet, she says a prayer, begging the Lord to send someone to defend them. Later Megan sits with her widowed mother (Carrie Snodgrass) and reads from the Bible: “And I saw, and behold, a pale horse, and its rider’s name was death, and hell followed him.” Then a lone horseman (Clint Eastwood), dressed as a preacher, rides into the camp to help the struggling miners fight off LaHood.

Key Understanding #2: Eastwood’s 44th. The Lord ordained Pale Rider to be Clint Eastwood’s 44th film (acting) endeavor (according to the Wikipedia filmography for Clint Eastwood, which includes the television show Rawhide, see Doc 1 below), for the purpose of further confirming its prophetic attachment to the fourth horse, the Pale Horse, of Revelation 6:7-8.

Here is #2246–Doc 1, Clint Eastwood’s filmography according to Wikipedia.
