Andrew Jackson and the January 8, 1815, Battle of New Orleans. The Battle of New Orleans took place on January 8, 1815, and was the last major battle of the War of 1812, the ‘second American war for independence’ from Great Britain. American forces, with General Andrew Jackson in command, defeated an invading British army intent on seizing New Orleans and America’s vast western lands. The Treaty of Ghent that ended the war had already been signed on December 24, 1814, but news of the peace would not reach New Orleans until February.

Key Understanding: From Andrew Jackson’s victory to end the War of 1812 to the ‘Jackson’ start of the ‘Jackson’ Iraq War. There were 188 years (+ 2 months and 11 days) between Andrew Jackson’s January 8, 1815, victory at the Battle of New Orleans and the March 19, 2003, start of the Jackson War against the regime of Saddam Hussein. The 188 years were in fulfillment of Revelation 18:8, only as the counterfeit, to warn of the real. This is explained further in the next Unsealing.

Revelation 18:6-10 (KJV) Reward her even as she rewarded you, and double unto her double according to her works: in the cup which she hath filled fill to her double.
7 How much she hath glorified herself, and lived deliciously, so much torment and sorrow give her: for she saith in her heart, I sit a queen, and am no widow, and shall see no sorrow.
8 THEREFORE SHALL HER PLAGUES COME IN ONE DAY, death, and mourning, and famine; and she shall be utterly burned with fire: for strong is the Lord God who judgeth her.

*9 And the kings of the earth, who have committed fornication and lived deliciously with her, shall bewail her, and lament for her, when they shall see the smoke of her burning,
10 Standing afar off for the fear of her torment, saying, Alas, alas, that great city Babylon, that mighty city! for in one hour is thy judgment come.*
